

OUTLAW RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Declared Unconstitutional By Supreme Court in Connection With School Bldgs.

IS AN 8-TO-1 DECISION

Decision Upholds Complaint of A Mother at Champaign, Ill.

In an eight-to-one decision, the Supreme Court late yesterday in Washington, D. C., declared that religious instruction in public school buildings was unconstitutional.

Justice Stanley F. Reed, in dissent, said the decision threw into doubt all forms of religious instruction connected in any way with school systems.

Such classes are now attended by thousands of pupils under programs set up in scores of communities throughout the country, including Bristol, where children may be excused during specified school hours for religious classes held elsewhere. The plan here is more or less on a temporary basis, depending upon its success during the present term as to its renewal next term.

The court's decision upheld a complaint of a mother in Champaign, Ill., an avowed atheist, who said that her son had been "embarrassed" by being the only child in his room not attending religious classes under a local plan.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, who joined the majority, said he believed the decision went too far, and argued that the decision would open the gates to a flood of litigation to groups which did not like local practices.

Under the Champaign plan, set up in 1940, the school board cooperated with the local Council on Religious Education by offering the needed facilities. The Council provided outside teachers representing the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths. Pupils, with the consent of their parents, could attend classes taught by an instructor of either group.

School authorities insisted that the arrangement, involving no financial outlay by the taxpayers, was well within the specifications of the Bill of Rights since it was open to all sects on a basis of equality, and pupils were free to attend, or not attend, the classes.

However, Mrs. Vashti McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor, objected on the ground the plan discriminated against her oldest son, James Terry, then 10.

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

With the women as the contestants and with the men as the judges, an apple pie contest was held by Kellers Church Grange last week.

Serving as judges were John Funk, Herman Frei and Harry Trouts, who declared Mrs. William Holland had the best entry. Second place went to Mrs. William Ahlum, and third to Miss Eleanor Frei.

In attendance at the meeting were State Deputy Mahlon Stage and Mrs. Stage, of Franklin Grange, Springfield. Mr. Stage gave a talk about Grange activities.

With the purchase of a new dry chemical fire extinguisher, designed to use in the fighting of oil fires, and plans to hold practice drills—dry runs—Doylestown Fire Company is taking a progressive stride under Chief John F. Gwinner.

Chief Gwinner, who announced that practice drills will be held weekly, beginning next month, pointed out that the firemen will perform just as if they were answering an alarm to fight a fire in a house, school or other structure.

Following a demonstration by Frank Rowe, former Philadelphia fire battalion chief Wednesday evening, the firemen purchased a new dry chemical fire extinguisher and spray nozzle. The new equipment cost about $55.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman and General MacArthur announced yesterday that they would accept nomination for the Presidency. Mr. Truman told party leaders he would run if named and declared he would not alter his stand on civil rights, which has antagonized the South, or on Palestine, which has alienated other supporters. General MacArthur, commenting in Tokyo on petitions filed in his behalf in Wisconsin, said he would "not actively seek or covet any office," but would accept if "called by the American people."

Both issues complicating the President's chances were in the news. Republicans teamed with Southern Democrats in the House to overwhelm a proposal to restore anti-discrimination provisions to an appropriation bill. While Russia was said to have pressed for prompt decision on implementing partition of Palestine, the United States, at a big powers talk, urged an opportunity to bring Jews and Arabs together. United Nations legal experts held that the Security Council had the right to take enforcement action if the Arabs resisted partition.

The Senate, in its first decisive test, defeated 53 to 19, a restrictive amendment to the European Recovery Program. Secretary Marshall pleaded for final Congressional action by April 1st with Speaker Martin, who could only promise a vote probably before April 10th. A survey of 430 community leaders showed overwhelming endorsement of the Marshall plan in principle, although some doubts about details.

A purely economic aid program for China would fail and must be backed by adequate military help, several witnesses told a House committee.

Install Officers of The Rohm & Haas Social Club

On Saturday evening the newly-elected officers of the Rohm & Haas Social Club were installed at the clubhouse. The affair was attended by club members and their families. The new officers were introduced by the plant superintendent, W. McClues, as follows: President, Frank Phipps; vice-president, R. Berger; secretary, C. Bilger; treasurer, James Eagan. Speeches were made by the retiring officers, among them the past president, William Moran. Clyde Betts acted as master of ceremonies.

Refreshments were served and the guests enjoyed an entertainment program by professional talent. The latter part of the evening was spent dancing, music being provided by an orchestra.

Car With Radio Telephone Unit To Be Placed In Service

TO CONNECT BRISTOL

Bristol Township plans to engage the services of a patrolman to police the Township during certain hours. An automobile is to be purchased and a mobile radio unit installed which is to be operated in conjunction with the radio-telephone land set in the police headquarters in the Bristol Municipal Building.

The Bristol Township police officer is to be sworn in as a police officer of Bristol Borough and the Bristol Borough police officers are to be sworn in as officers of Bristol Township, providing it is legal to do so. This is to be investigated by Bristol Borough Attorney John L. Kilcynne.

The swearing-in of the officers so that they will have authority in both districts is to be done so that when aid is needed in either, the officer or officers of the one district can assist the officers or officer of the other district.

Bristol Township is to pay Bristol Borough $100 annually for the switchboard service to be rendered in connection with receiving calls and dispatching the Township officer.

The plan was presented to Bristol Borough Council, last night, by S. Joseph Alta, chairman of police committee of the Borough. The subject caused considerable discussion when Mr. Alta asked that the $100 received for the service be divided among the police officers of Bristol Borough, in compensation for the increased work which it is said will be placed upon them. This was agreed to by a majority of the councilmen.

This caused considerable discussion among the councilmen. Some were of the opinion that a bad precedent is being set by such action. While many councilmen took part in this discussion when it came to a vote the motion was approved.

CORNER IN WHEAT

Fifty years or so ago, the plan of the 36-nation agreement to "stabilize" wheat prices would have been called by a familiar term: a "corner."

Those were the days of the bear and bull raids on Wall Street—the frenzied finance period of the stock exchange and commodity markets. The great ambition of many a plunger was to buy up a controlling share of some stock, or some article of commerce, and then to force the "shorts" to cover at his own price, regardless of values.

Many things have happened to make it not worth while for individuals or private groups to try to corner any major security or commodity in these days. Only governments now can hope to do so. And only those which have drifted far from the concepts of democracy are tempted to try.

The control by government of an essential commodity is not now called a "corner"—though that is precisely what it is. We use the word "monopoly" occasionally to describe those situations where government power over some needed article of commerce is so great that it can, on the one hand, fix the production price, and on the other, force the buyer to pay what it asks.

At other times this is known as "nationalization." The word "cartel" is sometimes employed to describe the set-up thus created. Yet "corner" is both more accurate and more descriptive.

The 26 nations, headed by the Truman Administration at Washington, propose to corner the world's wheat. Bread, the "staff of life," is an essential need throughout the earth; and the combination which controls bread controls the lives of all the earth's inhabitants.

The five-year corner now proposed is not complete. Two major wheat producing countries, Argentina and Russia, have not yet joined the combine—or, to use the word which once would have been applied, the "trust."

Nevertheless, the corner will be near enough to being complete, if the plan goes through, effectively to face most of the men and women of world with this alternative:

"Either bow your knee to your government—or starve!"

The capacity of this proposed wheat-trust to enforce tyranny is beyond description. It is the boldest weapon yet forged for National and International Socialism—and Socialism, as has been demonstrated again and again in the present generation, is simply a primrose path to dictatorship.

The age-old fight of "people vs. government" may be about to enter a new chapter. If there is still around any of the one-time American spirit of self-reliance, of faith in democracy and "popular sovereignty"—then that faith better prepare to fight for its life!

As so often happens in human affairs, the present development has a counterpart in the Bible. It is a familiar story, though better remembered for its mysticism, its poetry, and its marvelous imagery than for its lessons in economics and in politics.

It is the story of Joseph and Pharaoh, as told in the last chapters of Genesis.

WOMAN, 87, BECOMES GIRL SCOUT MEMBER

Mrs. Mary Ruch, Croydon, May Be Oldest Girl Scout in Nation

OATH ADMINISTERED

CROYDON, Mar. 9.—Croydon may have the oldest Girl Scout in the United States.

The newest affiliate of Troop 7, Croydon Girl Scouts, is "87-years-young" Mrs. Mary Ruch, of Wyoming avenue and State road.

An there is no "honorarium" attached to the membership. Mrs. Ruch has taken her Girl Scout oath and promise, and been officially presented with membership card and Girl Scout pin. She is a full-fledged Scout.

Of course, at heart, she has always been a Scout. Thirty-six years ago, when Croydon troop was organized, Mrs. Ruch was 51 years old, and thought she was too old to be a Scout. Oftimes she would stand on her porch and watch the Girls pass, in parades or en route to meetings. "Oh, I wish I could have been a Girl Scout!" she would exclaim.

The Scouts decided they might be able to do something about it—Mrs. Ruch being such an ardent supporter. National Girl Scout headquarters was contacted, and everything "cleared" for acceptance of the new member.

Last evening was the big night. Three first class Scouts, two other members of the troop, and their leaders visited Mrs. Ruch at her home. A brief Scout ceremony took place. Mrs. Edward Potterton, leader, administered the oath to Mrs. Ruch; Mrs. John Heisler and Mrs. William Tomlinson, assistant leaders, presented Mrs. Ruch with membership card and pin, respectively; and Barbara Tomlinson presented the new Scout with a bouquet of flowers, a gift from the troop. Barbara and Florence Tomlinson, "Betty Lou" Keeley, first class Scouts; Gertrude Tryon and Juanita Weissinger, troop members, were the ones present with the leaders. Mrs. Ruch's daughters witnessed the ceremony, watching the advancing of the American and troop flags, and witnessing the rest of the ritual.

Croydon Girl Scouts Will Meet This Evening

CROYDON, Mar. 9.—Through courtesy of the board of trustees of the Scout Cabin, it has been arranged to hold meetings of Croydon Girl Scouts each Tuesday (except the third Tuesday of the month) in the Scout cabin, until further notice.

The committee members and leaders found it wise to change the meeting place at this time, as the former meeting place is too small to take care of the steadily increasing membership. However, the original plan of a Girl Scout cabin will be in no way affected by this plan, it is said, and the continued support of the members of the community is solicited.

The first meeting will be held this evening at seven o'clock.

TELLS POLICE HOW TO PREPARE THEIR CASES

George R. Tucker, FBI, Speaker At Fourth Class Held Here Yesterday

QUESTIONS ASKED

Most of the discussion at the fourth class of the Advanced Training School for Law Enforcement Officers was classed as "confidential" and not released to the public. The class was held in the Municipal Building yesterday morning. George R. Tucker, from the Scranton district of the FBI, conducted the class.

In discussing the theme "Preparation of Criminal Cases for Court" Tucker pointed out that an accurate record of information was needed for the district attorney to successfully prosecute. It was up to the investigating officers and the desk sergeant in charge of the case to see that this was done.

A hypothetical case was cited in which members of the class participated. It was a house robbery, and Tucker listed the main questions to ask the person reporting the robbery. Pertinent questions were: time of robbery, articles stolen, identifying marks on articles, approximate values, paper money stolen and denomination of such, able to identify goods, any witnesses, how the house was broken into, any employees in the house, and many more questions.

"When questioning the complainant, who has reported the felony," Tucker said.

DELAY ORDINANCE PLACING TAX UPON AMUSEMENTS HERE

Action Withheld Until Outcome of Meeting in Harrisburg Today

HEAR OTHER REPORTS

Invite Senator Watson To Come Here to Discuss Condition of Canal

Borough Council did not receive, last night, the proposed ordinance which will place a tax upon amusements to commercialized amusements, as was expected. It was explained by Edward Riley, chairman of finance committee, that action upon such an ordinance would be withheld to await the outcome of a meeting today of the Pennsylvania Boroughs Association at Harrisburg, at which time an attempt will be made to iron out local tax problems stemming from misapplication of new revenue-raising authority granted by the General Assembly in 1947.

Abatement of the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canal as a nuisance, dogs running at large, and the making of additional streets as "one-way" arteries of traffic were some of the things which came before Bristol Borough Council, last night. The session was short and snappy and occupied a little over one hour.

The subject of the canal was brought to the attention of council by Dennis Roche, fourth ward councilman. He presented a motion that an invitation be extended to State Senator Edward B. Watson to come to Bristol and meet with the Health and Sanitation Committee of Council to discuss the condition of the canal in this area. The motion was accepted without a dissenting vote.

Mr. Roche also complained of the large number of dogs which are running at large in the borough. "They are running in packs," he said. The matter was referred to police committee.

Councilman John Smoyer, 3rd, Sixth Ward, inquired of President Charles G. Rathke what had become of a committee named to look into revising the borough's plumbing code. "We have hatchet-and-saw men" doing plumbing work here. He said that he had visited a local restaurant and found there was no ventilation in either the men's or women's lavatories. President Rathke said that the committee had held some meetings, but that the matter had been laid aside for a time. He said that he would call the committee together.

Declared Unconstitutional
By Supreme Court in Connection With School Bldg.

IS AN 8-TO-1 DECISION

Decision Upholds Complaint of A Mother at Champaign, Ill.

In an eight-to-one decision, the Supreme Court last yesterday in Washington, D. C., declared that religious instruction in public school buildings was unconstitutional.

Justice Stanley F. Reed, in dissent, said the decision threw into doubt all forms of religious instruction connected in any way with school systems.

Such classes are now attended by thousands of pupils under programs set up in scores of communities throughout the country, including Bristol, where children may be excused during specified school hours for religious classes held elsewhere. The plan here is more or less on a temporary basis, depending upon its success during the present term as to its renewal next term.

The court's decision upheld a complaint of a mother in Champaign, Ill., an avowed atheist, who said that her son had been "embarrassed" by being the only child in his room not attending religious classes under a local plan.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, while joining the majority, said he believed the decision went too far, and argued that the decision would open the gates to a flood of litigation to groups which did not like local practices.

Under the Champaign plan, set up in 1940, the school board cooperated with the local Council on Religious Education by offering the needed facilities. The Council provided outside teachers representing the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths. Pupils, with the consent of their parents, could attend classes taught by an instructor of either group.

School authorities insisted that the arrangement, involving no financial outlay by the taxpayers, was well within the specifications of the Bill of Rights since it was open to all sects on a basis of equality, and pupils were free to attend, or not attend, the classes.

However, Mrs. Vasshi McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor, objected on the ground the plan discriminated against her oldest son, James Terry, then 10.

With the purchase of a new dry chemical fire extinguisher, designed to use in the fighting of oil fires, and plans to hold practice drills—dry runs—Doylestown Fire Company is taking a progressive stride under Chief John F. Gwinner.

Chief Gwinner, who announced that practice drills will be held weekly, beginning next month, pointed out that the firemen will perform just as if they were answering an alarm to fight a fire in a house, school or other structure.

Following a demonstration by Frank Rowe, former Philadelphia fire battalion chief Wednesday evening, the firemen purchased a new dry chemical fire extinguisher and spray nozzle. The new equipment cost about $55.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman and General MacArthur announced yesterday that they would accept nomination for the Presidency. Mr. Truman told party leaders he would run if named and declared he would not alter his stand on civil rights, which has antagonized the South, or on Palestine, which has alienated other supporters. General MacArthur, commenting in Tokyo on petitions filed in his behalf in Wisconsin, said he would "not actively seek or covet any office," but would accept if "called by the American people."

Both issues complicating the President's chances were in the news. Republicans teamed with Southern Democrats in the House to overwhelm a proposal to restore anti-discrimination provisions to an appropriation bill. While Russia was said to have pressed for prompt decision on implementing partition of Palestine, the United States, at a big powers talk, urged an opportunity to bring Jews and Arabs together. United Nations legal experts held that the Security Council had the right to take enforcement action if the Arabs resisted partition.

The Senate, in its first decisive test, defeated, 53 to 19, a restrictive amendment to the European Recovery

TOWNSHIP TO ENGAGE A POLICE OFFICER

Car With Radio Telephone Unit To Be Placed in Service

TO CONNECT BRISTOL

Bristol Township plans to engage the services of a patrolman to police the Township during certain hours. An automobile to be purchased and a mobile radio unit installed which is to be operated in conjunction with the radio-telephone land set in the police headquarters in the Bristol Municipal Building.

The Bristol Township police officer is to be sworn-in as a police officer of Bristol Borough and the Bristol Borough police officers are to be sworn in as officers of Bristol Township, providing it is legal to do so. This is to be investigated by Bristol Borough Attorney John L. Kilcoyne.

The swearing-in of the officers so that they will have authority in both districts is to be done so that when aid is needed in either, the officer or officers of the one district can assist the officers or officer of the other district.

Bristol Township is to pay Bristol Borough $1100 annually for the switchboard service to be rendered in connection with receiving calls and dispatching the Township officer.

The plan was presented to Bristol Borough Council, last night, by S. Joseph Alta, chairman of police committee of the Borough. The subject caused considerable discussion when Mr. Alta asked that the $1100 received for the service be divided among the police officers of Bristol Borough, in compensation for the increased work which it is said will be placed upon them. This was agreed to by a majority of the councilmen.

This caused considerable discussion among the councilmen. Some were of the opinion that a bad precedent is being set by such action. While many councilmen took part in this discussion when it came to a vote the motion was approved.

CORNER IN WHEAT

Those were the days of the bear and bull raids on Wall Street—the frenzied period of the stock exchange and commodity markets. The great ambition of many a plunger was to buy up a controlling share of some stock, or some article of commerce, and then to force the "shorts" to cover at his own price, regardless of values.

Many things have happened to make it not worth while for individuals or private groups to try to corner any major security or commodity in these days. Only governments now can hope to do so. And only those which have drifted far from the concepts of democracy are tempted to try.

The control by government of an essential commodity is not now called a "corner"—though that is precisely what it is. We use the word "monopoly" occasionally to describe those situations where government power over some needed article of commerce is so great that it can, on the one hand, fix the production price, and on the other, force the buyer to pay what it asks.

At other times this is known as "nationalization." The word "cartel" is sometimes employed to describe the set-up thus created. Yet "corner" is both more accurate and more descriptive.

The 36 nations, headed by the Truman Administration at Washington, propose to corner the world's wheat. Bread, the "staff of life," is an essential need throughout the earth; and the combination which controls bread controls the lives of all the earth's inhabitants.

The five-year corner now proposed is not complete. Two major wheat producing countries, Argentina and Russia, have not yet joined the combine—or, to use the word which once would have been applied, the "trust."

Nevertheless, the corner will be near enough to being complete, if the plan goes through, effectively to face most of the men and women of wheat with this alternative:

"Either bow your knee to your government—or starve!"

The capacity of this proposed wheat-trust to enforce tyranny is beyond description. It is the boldest weapon yet forged for National and International Socialism—and Socialism, as has been demonstrated again and again in the present generation, is simply a primrose path to dictatorship.

The age-old fight of "people vs. government" may be about to enter a new chapter. If there is still around any of the one-time American spirit of self-reliance, of faith in democracy and "popular sovereignty"—then that faith better prepare to fight for its life!

As so often happens in human affairs, the present development has a counterpart in the Bible. It is a familiar story, though better remembered for its mysticism, its poetry, and its marvelous imagery than for its lessons in economics and in politics.

It is the story of Joseph and Pharaoh, as told in the last chapters of Genesis.

WOMAN, 87, BECOMES GIRL SCOUT MEMBER

Mrs. Mary Ruch, Croydon,
May Be Oldest Girl Scout in Nation

OATH ADMINISTERED

CROYDON, Mar. 9.—Croydon may have the oldest Girl Scout in the United States.

The newest affiliate of Troop 7, Croydon Girl Scouts, is "87-years-young" Mrs. Mary Ruch, of Wyoming avenue and State road.

An there is no "honorarium" attached to the membership, Mrs. Ruch has taken her Girl Scout oath and promise, and been officially presented with membership card and Girl Scout pin. She is a full-fledged Scout.

Of course, at heart, she has always been a Scout. Thirty-six years ago, when Croydon troop was organized, Mrs. Ruch was 51 years old, and thought she was too old to be a Scout. Oftimes she would stand on her porch and watch the Girls pass, in parades or en route to meetings. "Oh, I wish I could have been a Girl Scout!" she would exclaim.

The Scouts decided they might be able to do something about it—Mrs. Ruch being such an ardent supporter. National Girl Scout headquarters was contacted, and everything "cleared" for acceptance of the new member.

Last evening was the big night. Three first class Scouts, two other members of the troop, and their leaders visited Mrs. Ruch at her home. A brief Scout ceremony took place. Mrs. Edward Patterson, leader, administered the oath to Mrs. Ruch; Mrs. John Heister and Mrs. William Tomlinson, assistant leaders, presented Mrs. Ruch with membership card and pin, respectively; and Barbara Tomlinson presented the new Scout with a bouquet of flowers, a gift from the troop. Barbara and Florence Tomlinson, "Betty Lou" Keeley, first class scouts; Gertrude Tryon and Juanita Weissinger, troop members, were the ones present with the leaders. Mrs. Ruch's daughters witnessed the ceremony, watching the advancing of the American and troop flags, and witnessing the rest of the ritual.

A slip, bedroom slippers, apron, hosiery, earrings, etc., will be offered as prizes to players of pinocle and bridge at the party which Catholic Daughters of America will conduct in the K. of C. home this evening at 8:45.

100 Killed, 250 Hurt in Ammunition Dump Explosion
Shanghai—One hundred Chinese were reported to have been killed and another 250 injured when an ammunition dump at Tsingtao exploded today. United States Navy sources at Shanghai said the blast, which occurred half a mile from the pier where the USS Estes and the hospital ship Repose were berthed, levelled a city block. The blast started fires which swept a wide area. Rescue teams from the United States Navy immediately went into action. No American casualties were reported and no American-owned buildings were damaged.

Croydon Girl Scouts Will Meet This Evening

CROYDON, Mar. 9.—Through courtesy of the board of trustees of the Scout Cabin, it has been arranged to hold meetings of Croydon Girl Scouts each Tuesday (except the third Tuesday of the month) in the Scout cabin, until further notice.

The committee members and leaders found it wise to change the meeting place at this time, as the former meeting place is too small to take care of the steadily increasing membership. However, the original plan of a Girl Scout cabin will be in no way affected by this plan, it is said, and the continued support of the members of the community is solicited.

The first meeting will be held this evening at seven o'clock.

TELLS POLICE HOW TO PREPARE THEIR CASES

George R. Tucker, FBI,
Speaker At Fourth Class
Held Here Yesterday

QUESTIONS ASKED

Most of the discussion at the fourth class of the Advanced Training School for Law Enforcement Officers was classed as "confidential" and not released to the public. The class was held in the Municipal Building yesterday morning. George R. Tucker, from the Scranton district of the FBI, conducted the class.

In discussing the theme "Preparation of Criminal Cases for Court" Tucker pointed out that an accurate record of information was needed for the district attorney to successfully prosecute. It was up to the investigating officers and the desk sergeant in charge of the case to see that this was done.

A hypothetical case was cited in which members of the class participated. It was a house robbery, and Tucker listed the main questions to ask the person reporting the robbery. Pertinent questions were: time of robbery, articles stolen, identifying marks on articles, approximate values, paper money stolen and denomination of such, able to identify goods, any witnesses, how the house was broken into, any employees in the house, and many more questions.

"When questioning the complainant, who has reported the felony," Tucker said.

THREATS' NOT LISTED
NEW YORK, Mar. 9.—Henry J. Kaiser in a letter today addressed to employees of his automotive company, charged that Cyrus Eaton, largest stockholder of Otis & Co., underwriting firm which withdrew from the recent sale of stock, "tried to coerce us into canceling the contract by making a number of threats against Kaiser-Frazer."

Mr. Kaiser did not divulge the nature of the threats supposedly made by Mr. Eaton, and the latter could not be reached for comment. A representative of Otis & Co. in Cleveland reported that the company had "no comment" on Mr. Kaiser's statement.

Declaring that he wrote his letter to employees at the behest of the company's plant managers and union leaders, Mr. Kaiser said he wanted to explain events leading up to the Otis company's withdrawal from a contract to offer 1,500,000 shares of Kaiser-Frazer common stock to the public on Feb. 4th.

Mr. Kaiser's letter to the workers said, in part, as follows: "On the day that the new Kaiser-Frazer stock was offered to the public, Cyrus Eaton about noon informed me that a large portion of the stock had been sold and that the investment houses would hold the rest for later sale, confident the stock would be worth $25 a share."

"Yet at 6 o'clock the same day, Mr. Eaton came to my office and bluntly stated he did not intend to carry out his contract. We told him

Terchon Post To Continue Cadet Uniform Drive

It was announced today by Commander C. A. Schweizer, of the Chester W. Terchon Post, No. 5542, Veterans of Foreign Wars, that the Cadet Corps uniform drive, will continue.

"It is hoped that as a result of this drive the Cadet Corps can take the field with all new equipment. The Post in an effort to make the best possible showing, purchased new musical instruments for the entire corps, engaged a competent musical instructor, and is holding bi-weekly practice periods," it is announced.

"It is hoped that the full support of the Citizens of Bristol will be behind this drive, in order that our goal 'New Uniforms,' can be reached," said Schweizer.

BACK TO THE EGG!

The plump broiler of today, which graces family dinner tables, is only a distant cousin to the scrawny fowl plucked by members of this generation's immediate or distant ancestors. Now, if all goes well, citizens of this never dull land will soon get an opportunity to feast their eyes and smack their lips over the "chicken of tomorrow."

For three years poultry growers have been working to produce a chicken with more meat and smaller bones. (Presumably the ultimate goal would be a hen with all meat and no bones at all, but that would be less than fair to people who like drumsticks and wings.)

The final tests will be made and the winning chicken will be picked (no pun) in Delaware, the top broiler-growing area in the nation.

The eggs, 28,000 of them, are to be hatched in an incubator at Easton, Del. The birds will grow up from downy chicks to handsome, strutting fowl at the sub-station of the University of Delaware near Georgetown.

What the champion will look like, after the judging on June 24, can only be conjectured. The automobile of tomorrow is beginning to look something like a tin egg. Can it be that the chicken of tomorrow, or the day after, will wind up with something like the same shape?

In that event, a chicken crossing the road in front of an automobile would more closely resemble a part of the streamlined age.

ALL ABOARD

Preview of what eventually will become general in travel by rail is provided in the new trains put into operation by the Santa Fe system. Newest streamliners, operating daily between Chicago and Los Angeles, represent the last word in travel luxury.

All jerks and jolts have been eliminated by improved coupling devices and gadgets which stabilize movement of the cars to such an extent side rolls are unknown. Although they operate at high speed, it is asserted the passenger has no sense of movement unless he watches the landscape.

Running ice water is provided, as well as hot water for various purposes. A barber is available, and shower baths may be had for a small extra charge. Maids and valets are on hand to serve the passengers. Radio is a doubtful boon.

There is an entire absence of noise, all compartments being insulated against outside sounds.

Nearly all railroads are converting to diesel power or already have changed from steam. Approximately 85 per cent of the major passenger trains in the nation now are diesel-operated. This has brought a new word to the language—dieselization.

In the future Americans will ride in comfort, at rail speeds heretofore unknown, and in increased safety provided by better roadbeds and improved safety equipment.

Corner in Wheat

Reduced to bare essentials, the story is simple enough. Joseph, certain in his own mind of coming crop failures, showed the ruler of Egypt how to take advantage of them.

They cornered wheat—the word "corn," used in the Bible, means grain in general; something to make bread out of. During the seven years of plenty they "took up" one-fifth of the food crops.

"And Joseph gathered corn as the sand of the sea, very much, until he left numbering, for it was without number."

When the seven lean years came, the corner was complete. The famine was all over the face of the earth. The people cried to Pharaoh for bread. All countries came into Egypt to buy corn.

The "shorts" were cornered; they bought from Pharaoh, at Pharaoh's price—or they starved!

Aside from Joseph's gifts to his own brothers, the biblical account makes no reference to charity. The needy raised money to meet the price; or presumably they got no bread.

The Bible says that "Joseph gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, and I will give you (wheat) for your cattle." And after the cows, horses, asses and other live stock were in Pharaoh's hands, then the starving "sold every man his field, because the famine prevailed over them."

"So the land became Pharaoh's."

The parable or historic incident, whichever way it is to be taken, is too exact a parallel to give comfort for those who assume that governments of this generation, which produced its Hitler, its Mussolini and its Stalin, will use a similar wheat-corner for generous humanitarian and democratic purposes.

Pharaoh and Joseph used their corner to squeeze out of private hands, and into the government's possession, all of the property of all of the people. They reduced the populations to destitution and slavery. Thereafter, the people worked not their own land, but Pharaoh's land. As they said:

"Thou hast saved our lives . . . we will be Pharaoh's servants."

Let's follow the parable a step further; who really benefitted by this transaction? Certainly not the people of the lands of Egypt and Canaan; they lost their property and their freedom, and all prospects of regaining either.

Did Joseph profit? Only in the most temporary and selfish sense. He became a great and rich man in his lifetime, with chariots and the other appurtenances of wealth in those days. He brought into Egypt a host of his kinfolk, and established them there, under the benevolence of the grateful Pharaoh. There "they increased abundantly and waxed exceeding mighty."

But Joseph died, and so did Pharaoh; and in the memorable phrase of the Bible:

"Now there arose up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joseph."

Promptly this new king stirred up envy and hatred towards the children of Israel. Crucifix, bondage, and the massacre of Hebrew children were their lot. Moses, hidden in the bull-rushes to escape slaughter, rose to be their leader. Eventually came the long, tragic flight and search for their "promised land." The descendants and kinfolk of Joseph profited little from Joseph's wheat speculations.

And the Pharaohs? Most of the profits of their "corner" wound up eventually being expended on non-productive monuments to the vanity of the successive kings. The Pharaohs and their land alike went into decay.

How much of this history is going to be repeated during coming years?

Charges of Coercion Are Made by Kaiser

We could not legally let him run out on his bargain. He declared we were making a great mistake in refusing to relieve him of his obligation. Mr. Eaton then tried to coerce us into cancelling the contract by making a number of threats against Kaiser-Frazer. We refused to be intimidated. Since then it appears that Mr. Eaton has been trying to carry out some of these threats.

"A day or two later, a lawyer who previously represented Otis-Eaton interests, filed a stockholder's suit which was used by Otis & Co. as an excuse for not going through with the contract."

Mr. Kaiser asserted that Mr. Eaton "was, in effect, declaring a fight against 20,000 Kaiser-Frazer employees, 36,000 stockholders, 3,800 dealers and distributors, their 35,000 employees, all of our suppliers, our friends and supporters." The automotive company chairman said that he is going to "defend Kaiser-Frazer against the threats." The company has a damage suit now pending against the underwriting concern for its withdrawal from the contract.

BACK TO THE EGG!

The plump broiler of today,
which graces family dinner tables, is only a distant cousin to the scrawny fowl plucked by members of this generation's immediate or distant ancestors. Now, if all goes well, citizens of this never dull land will soon get an opportunity to feast their eyes and smack their lips over the "chicken of tomorrow."

For three years poultry growers have been working to produce a chicken with more meat and smaller bones. (Presumably the ultimate goal would be a hen with all meat and no bones at all, but that would be less than fair to people who like drumsticks and wings.)

The final tests will be made and the winning chicken will be picked (no pun) in Delaware, the top broiler-growing area in the nation.

The eggs, 28,000 of them, are to be hatched in an incubator at Easton, Del. The birds will grow up from downy chicks to handsome, strutting fowl at the substation of the University of Delaware near Georgetown.

What the champion will look like, after the judging on June 24, can only be conjectured. The automobile of tomorrow is beginning to look something like a tin egg. Can it be that the chicken of tomorrow, or the day after, will wind up with something like the same shape?

In that event, a chicken crossing the road in front of an automobile would more closely resemble a part of the streamlined age.

ALL ABOARD

Preview of what eventually will become general in travel by rail is provided in the new trains put into operation by the Santa Fe system. Newest streamliners, operating daily between Chicago and Los Angeles, represent the last word in travel luxury.

All jerks and jolts have been eliminated by improved coupling devices and gadgets which stabilize movement of the cars to such an extent side rolls are unknown.
Although they operate at high speed, it is asserted the passenger has no sense of movement unless he watches the landscape.

Running ice water is provided, as well as hot water for various purposes. A barber is available, and shower baths may be had for a small extra charge. Maids and valets are on hand to serve the passengers. Radio is a doubtful boon.

There is an entire absence of noise, all compartments being insulated against outside sounds.

Nearly all railroads are converting to diesel power or already have changed from steam. Approximately 85 per cent of the major passenger trains in the nation now are diesel-operated. This has brought a new word to the language—deslization.

In the future Americans will ride in comfort, at rail speeds heretofore unknown, and in increased safety provided by better roadbeds and improved safety equipment.

Corner in Wheat

Reduced to bare essentials, the story is simple enough. Joseph, certain in his own mind of coming crop failures, showed the ruler of Egypt how to take advantage of them.

They cornered wheat—the word "corn," used in the Bible, means grain in general; something to make bread out of. During the seven years of plenty, they "took up" one-fifth of the food crops:

"And Joseph gathered corn as the sand of the sea, very much until he left numbering; for it was without number.

When the seven lean years came, the corner was complete. The famine was all over the face of the earth. The people cried to Pharaoh for bread. All countries came into Egypt to buy corn.

The "shorts" were cornered; they bought from Pharaoh, at Pharaoh's price—or they starved!

Aside from Joseph's gifts to his own brothers, the biblical account makes no reference to charity. The needy raised money to meet the price; or presumably they got no bread.

The Bible says that "Joseph gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan." When he had all the money, he told the starving: "Give your cattle, and I will give you (wheat) for your cattle." And after the cows, horses, asses and other live-stock were in Pharaoh's hands, then the starving "sold every man his field, because the famine prevailed over them."

"So the land became Pharaoh's."

The parable of historic incident, whichever way it is to be taken, is too exact a parallel to give comfort for those who assume that governments of this generation, which produced its Hitler, its Mussolini and its Stalin, will use a similar wheat-corner for generous, humanitarian and democratic purposes.

Pharaoh and Joseph used their corner to squeeze out of private hands, and into the government's possession, all of the property of all of the people. They reduced the populations to destitution and slavery.
Thereafter, the people worked not their own land, but Pharaoh's land.
As they said:

"Thou hast saved our lives . . . we will be Pharaoh's servants."

Let's follow the parable a step further; who really benefitted by this transaction? Certainly not the people of the lands of Egypt and Canaan; they lost their property and their freedom, and all prospects of regaining either.

Did Joseph profit? Only in the most temporary and selfish sense.
He became a great and rich man in his lifetime, with chariots and the other appurtenances of wealth in those days. He brought into Egypt a host of his kinsfolk, and established them there, under the benevolence of the grateful Pharaoh. There "they increased abundantly and waxed exceeding mighty."

But Joseph died, and so did Pharaoh; and in the memorable phrase of the Bible:

"Now there arose up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joseph."

Promptly this new king stirred up envy and hatred towards the children of Israel. Cruelty, bondage, and the massacre of Hebrew children were their lot. Moses, hidden in the bull-rushes to escape slaughter, rose to be their leader. Eventually came the long, tragic flight and search for their "promised land." The descendants and kinsfolk of Joseph profited little from Joseph's wheat speculations.

And the Pharaohs? Most of the profits of their "corner" wound up eventually being expended on non-productive monuments to the vanity of the successive kings. The Pharaohs and their land alike went into decay.

How much of this history is going to be repeated during coming years?

Charges of Coercion Are Made by Kaiser

We could not legally let him run out on his bargain. He declared we were making a great mistake in refusing to relieve him of his obligation. Mr. Eaton then tried to coerce us into canceling the contract by making a number of threats against Kaiser-Frazer. We refused to be intimidated. Since then it appears that Mr. Eaton has been trying to carry out some of these threats.

"A day or two later, a lawyer who previously represented Otis-Eaton interests, filed a stockholder's suit which was used by Otis & Co. as an excuse for not going through with the contract."

Mr. Kaiser asserted that Mr.
Eaton "was, in effect, declaring a fight against 29,000 Kaiser-Frazer employees, 35,000 stockholders, 3,800 dealers and distributors, their 35,000 employees, all of our suppliers, our friends and supporters." The automobile company chairman said that he is going to "defend Kaiser-Frazer against the threats." The company has a damage suit now pending against the underwriting concern for its withdrawal from the contract.

"Heidi" To Be Staged In A Local Theatre

Today, newspapers from coast

ment with which the youngsters

"Heidi" onto the stage in Clare Tree Major's faithful adaptation.

When questioned the actors in

BRISTOL HIGH WILL BE UNDERDOG TONIGHT AS TEAM ENTERS THE SECOND ROUND IN P. I. A. A. MEET

Bristol High will be the underdog tonight as it enters the second round of the P. I. A. A. tournament, District One, at the Penn. Palestra, 33rd and Walnut streets, Philadelphia. The Warriors' opponents will be the highly-touted Norristown High, holders of a 14-game winning streak.

Bristol entered the second round of the tourney with a two-extra-periods victory over West Chester High while Norristown had an overwhelming win over Ridley Park, 50-20.

During the course of the regular season, Norristown ranked fifteenth in state averages with an average of 62.5 which was almost 10 points higher than the boys of Coach "Jerry" Bloom. Norristown won the District One PIAA tournament last year and the team this season is laden with practically the same lads that won the crown last season.

But Norristown's record does not scare the Warriors. The Bristol boys played some of the best teams in this vicinity during the season and if they score as they did against the Alumni team last Friday night there will be no stopping of the Warriors.

This is the first time that a Lower Bucks County School has gone further than the first round and a triumph for Bristol will place them in a position to meet another opponent for the Eastern section championship.

Norristown will have the height over the Warriors and in all their games this season have dominated the backboards. Bristol's hope lies in getting the sphere on the rebounds to take it away from the Eagles.

Chief scorers on the Norristown team are "Milt" Keyser and Gene Coder. This pair, along with "Doc" Cuono led the scoring against Ridley Park although another ace, George Williams, was on the sidelines. The other starting player is Hal Bontempo. Coder, the pivot-man, is six feet, six inches in height.

Norristown is loaded down with pivot plays, they having three specialists in this department who work the pivot-plays from all sides of the court. The Bristol defense must stop these pivoting plays in order to entertain hopes of beating their foes.

Norristown has never seen the Bristol pattern style of basketball in action. The Warriors did not use this so much against West Chester and Coach Bloom will spring it on the Norristown opponents tonight.

Bristol has been practicing daily since its West Chester victory and feel confident that it can beat the Norristown lads. Coach Bloom's proteges played wonderful ball against the players of the local league last week in a scrimmage game and if the same plays work against Norristown then the Eagles are in for a surprise.

Coach Bloom's starting quintet will most likely be composed of: "Jim" Sottile, "Ham" Konelak, "Don" DeLong, "Johnny" Pindar, and "Jimmy" Marshall. The Bristol "subs" are: Val Bielecki, "Dave" Morrell, Bob Bowen and Jack Bailey.

Coach Lawson Earl's list of replacement include: Genardi, Sander, Scott, Reichman, Swayze, Landes, Daywalt, Cain, Fisher and Campbell.

Tapoff will take place at eight o'clock.

TWO GOALS IN LAST QUARTER WINS GAME

Two field goals in the last quarter by Mulligan gave the St. Mark's Alumni quintet a 26-20 victory over the St. Mark's school team last night in the preliminary game on the Mutual Aid floor.

The game was close and hard-fought throughout with Brady and Wilkins scoring 18 of the St. Mark's school team's points and McHugh and Brady scoring 18 for the Alumni.

Police committee reported seven arrests during February. Three were held for court, three discharged, and one fined. Three street lights were reported out and 224 lodgers were given shelter. There were three automobile violations, six doors were found unlocked, nine summons were served for parking violations. The radio car answered 116 alarms and was driven 3,293 miles. William A. Pearson, chairman of street committee, reported that all street lights with a wattage of 100 had been changed to 250. Lights have been placed at street intersections of the by-pass highway. He said that the committee is considering permitting parking on only one side of Mulberry, Walnut, Penn. Washington, Dorrance and Lafayette streets. Penn. Dorrance and Lafayette streets may be made one-way streets. Washington street will continue to be a two-way street because of it being one of the main highways to the P. R. R. station.

The Council was advised by Solicitor Kilcoyne that it is now optional for the Board to pay for a bond for the tax collector until 1950, but after that date it will be compulsory to do so. The council authorized procuring a bonding company for the tax collector and Councilman Riley, chairman of Finance Committee, was given an appropriation of $402 to pay for the bond.

Bristol Hardware asked permission to erect an overhead sign. The request was referred to street committee with power to act.

Burgess Jacob C. Schmidt asked Council to adopt a resolution endorsing a clean-up, paint-up campaign sponsored by the Bristol Chamber of Commerce. It was approved.

A tax refund was authorized for Mary Winslow due to a duplicate payment.

Council appropriated $100 to Bracken Post for Memorial Day expenses.

President Rathke reported that the committee named to procure office quarters for the borough treasurer had done so.

Outlaw Religious Instruction in Schools

Mrs. McCollum said she was an atheist and did not wish her child to receive religious instruction. When he did not attend the classes, she contended, the boy was made conspicuous and subjected to ridicule by other pupils. Once, when it turned out he was the only pupil in his room not taking the course, he was asked to sit out in a corridor alone.

The mother asked Illinois courts to stop the whole project as violating the historic concept of separation of church and state. The state courts ruled that no constitutional

THIRD WARD FIVE RALLIES BUT LOSES TO SECOND WARD

A determined Third Ward team made a gallant rally in the final period but fell short as the Second Ward Boys' Club defeated the Eagles to enter the playoffs of the Bristol Youth League. Final count was: Second Ward, 48; Third Ward, 44.

Second Ward had a 36-22 lead at the start of the last session but the Eagles scored 22 points before time ran out. At that, in the last nine seconds both Gallagher and Braam had shots which would have deadlocked the score.

"Tony" Sottile, "Richy" Addeo, and "Lenny" Jones were outstanding for the victors while Emis was the losers' best.

FRANKLIN EASILY WINS OVER THE HIBERNIAN FIVE

The Hibernians wilted in the last quarter as the Franklin A. C. aggregation tabbed its fourteen straight win of the Bristol Youth League on the Mutual Aid floor. Final score was 54-38.

Franklin held but a 38-30 lead at the close of the third session but "Sticks" Esposito and Emil Praketa scored five field goals in fast order to give the "Franks" a commanding lead.

Wallick, Esposito, and Praketa were high for Franklin with 18, 14, and 12 points, respectively, while both Schreiber and McHugh scored 9 points each for the Hibos.

BRISTOL HIGH WILL BE UNDERDOG TONIGHT AS TEAM ENTERS THE SECOND ROUND IN P. I. A. A. MEET

Bristol High will be the underdog tonight as it enters the second round of the P. I. A. A. tournament, District One, at the Penn Palestra, 33rd and Walnut streets, Philadelphia. The Warriors' opponents will be the highly-touted Norristown High, holders of a 14-game winning streak.

Bristol entered the second round of the tournament with a two-extra-periods victory over West Chester High while Norristown had an overwhelming win over Ridley Park, 50-30.

During the course of the regular season, Norristown ranked fifteenth in state averages with an average of 62.5 which was almost 10 points higher than the boys of Coach "Jerry" Bloom. Norristown won the District One PIAA tournament last year and the team this season is laden with practically the same lads that won the crown last season.

But Norristown's record does not scare the Warriors. The Bristol boys played some of the best teams in this vicinity during the season and if they score as they did against the Alumni team last Friday night, there will be no stopping of the Warriors.

This is the first time that a Lower Bucks County School has gone further than the first round and a triumph for Bristol will place them in a position to meet another opponent for the Eastern section championship.

Norristown will have the height over the Warriors and in all their games this season have dominated the backboards. Bristol's hope lies in getting the sphere on the rebound to take it away from the Eagles.

Chief scorers on the Norristown team are "Milt" Keyser and Gene Coder. This pair, along with "Doc" Cuono led the scoring against Ridley Park although another ace, George Williams, was on the sidelines. The other starting player is Hal Bontempo. Coder, the pivotman, is six feet, six inches in height.

Norristown is loaded down with pivot plays, they having three specialists in this department who work the pivot-plays from all sides of the court. The Bristol defense must stop these pivoting plays in order to entertain hopes of beating their foes.

Norristown has never seen the Bristol pattern style of basketball in action. The Warriors did not use this so much against West Chester and Coach Bloom will spring it on the Norristown opponents tonight.

Bristol has been practicing daily since its West Chester victory and feel confident that it can beat the Norristown lads. Coach Bloom's proteges played wonderful ball against the players of the local league last week in a scrimmage game and if the same plays work against Norristown then the Eagles are in for a surprise.

Coach Bloom's starting quintet will most likely be composed of: "Jim" Sottile, "Ham" Konofal, "Don" DeLong, "Johnny" Pindar, and "Jimmy" Marshall. The Bristol "subs" are: Val Bielecki, "Dave" Morrell, Bob Bowen and Jack Bailey.

Coach Lawson Earl's list of replacement include: Genaurd, Sanderson, Scott, Reichman, Swayze, Landes, Daywalt, Cain, Fisher and Campbell.

Tapoff will take place at eight o'clock.

TWO GOALS IN LAST QUARTER WINS GAME

Two field goals in the last quarter by Mulligan gave the St. Mark's Alumni quintet a 26-20 victory over the St. Mark's school team last night in the preliminary game on the Mutual Aid floor.

The game was close and hard-fought throughout with Brady and Wilkins scoring 18 of the St. Mark's school team's points and McHugh and Brady scoring 18 for the Alumni.

Police committee reported seven arrests during February. Three were held for court, three discharged, and one fined. Three street lights were reported out and 224 lodgers were given shelter. There were three automobile violations, six doors were found unlocked, nine summons were served for parking violations. The radio car answered 116 alarms and was driving 3,203 miles. There were 115 parking violations and a total of $643.68 was collected from the parking meters.

Councilman Alta, chairman of police committee, asked the approval of council of a contract with the Bell Telephone Co. for a radio-telephone communication service for the police department. The cost will be $55 per month for a period of five years. It was approved.

William A. Pearson, chairman of street committee, reported that all street lights with a wattage of 100 had been changed to 250, lights have been placed at street intersections of the by-pass highway. He said that the committee is considering permitting parking on only one side.

of Mulberry, Walnut, Penn, Washington, Dorrance and Lafayette streets, Penn, Dorrance and Lafayette streets may be made one-way streets. Washington street will continue to be a two-way street because of it being one of the main highways to the P. R. R. station.

The Council was advised by Solicitor Kilcoyne that it is now optional for the Board to pay for a bond for the tax collector until 1950, but after that date it will be compulsory to do so. The council authorized procuring a bonding company for the tax collector and Councilman Riley, chairman of Finance Committee, was given an appropriation of $402 to pay for the bond.

Bristol Hardware asked permission to erect an overhead sign. The request was referred to street committee with power to act.

Burgess Jacob C. Schmidt asked Council to adopt a resolution endorsing a clean-up, paint-up campaign sponsored by the Bristol Chamber of Commerce. It was approved.

A tax refund was authorized for Mary Winslow due to a duplicate payment.

Council appropriated $100 to Bracken Post for Memorial Day expenses.

President Rathke reported that the committee named to procure office quarters for the borough treasurer had done so.

Mrs. McCollum said she was an atheist and did not wish her child to receive religious instruction. When he did not attend the classes, she contended, the boy was made conspicuous and subjected to ridicule by other pupils. Once, when it turned out he was the only pupil in his room not taking the course, he was asked to sit out in a corridor alone.

The mother asked Illinois courts to stop the whole project as violating the historic concept of separation of church and state. The state courts ruled that no constitutional
